EDEN VALLEY • BAROSSA

2018 HUTTON VALE FARM SHIRAZ

The pedigree and provenance of this Shiraz vineyard is impressive. Ronald Angas planted the Mount Edelstone vineyard in 1912, from where cuttings were taken to establish the Hutton Vale Farm vineyards in the 1960's. The Mount Edelstone vineyard was later sold to the Henschke family. Over the years the Angas' sold their fruit to a number of top Barossa wineries where it found its way into many great wines, including those twice voted best Shiraz in the world.

Vintage Conditions:

The 2018 vintage is considered a standout of the decade with Shiraz faring particularly well. The 2017 winter was moderately wet followed by a mild Spring which was ideal for flowering. Summer started warm and dry and turned hot and dry but with little extreme heat periods. Overnight temperatures were warm which our old vine vineyards coped well with. The ripening period of March and April were warm and sunny leading to balanced fruit flavours and pristine fruit.

Winemaking:

After hand picking, destemmed prior to fermentation in open top fermenters for 8 days, gently pumped over by hand twice a day. The resulting wine was matured for 24 months in new (30%) and seasoned French oak hogsheads prior to careful racking and blending. A further two years in bottle has allowed the wine to develop further complexity.

Tasting Notes:

Brooding dark red fruit, plum, black pepper, anise, and cedar spice drive a complex array of aromatics. The aromas carry on to a palate that is rich and generous, with fine elegant tannins that accentuate the wine's length. The 2018 vintage is a classic Hutton Vale Shiraz that will reward careful cellaring over the next 15+ years.
